

---

■ Table of Contents

---

Introduction .....	1
Attracting Employees .....	1-1
What kind of employees do you want? What job are you offering? Where do you look for employees? How do you contact prospective employees? What are ethical considerations? What do prospective employees look for?
Making the Job Offer .....	2-1
How do you read a resume or application form? How do you conduct an interview? What questions should you ask and not ask? How can you make a job offer without making promises that will get you in trouble?
Screening/Testing .....	3-1
What is legal and what isn't? How much weight should you give tests in hiring decisions? How do you evaluate results? What is effective and what isn't?
Building a Personnel File .....	4-1
What's required? What's helpful? What's dangerous? How long should you keep records?
It's the Law .....	5-1
A summary of federal employment laws including disabilities, discrimination, downsizing, on-the-job injuries, workplace harassment.
Creating a Training Program .....	6-1
Subjects include orientation, training for new employees, work rules, continuing education for existing employees, training schedule and resources.
Developing Effective Employees .....	7-1
Subjects include creating career opportunities, management training, performance management and performance reviews.
Rewarding Employees .....	8-1
Topics include compensation, traditional incentives and benefits, non-traditional incentives and benefits and finding out what employees want and giving it to them.
When It's Time to Part .....	9-1
How do you know when it's time to terminate? Subjects include legal issues on termination, proper termination procedures, protecting yourself from lawsuits, emotional issues on termination and exit interviews.
When It's All Said and Done .....	10-1
What makes a happy, productive staff? Why are some employers successful at keeping employees? What do owners and managers say? Why do good employees leave?
Glossary .....	G-1
Frequently Asked Questions .....	F-1
Appendix .....	A-1