

Author Biography

K. Raghava Rao, received B.E and M.Tech and Ph.D in CSE from MP and RVP and Mahatma Gandhi(Kasividyapeeth) Universities in the years 1995, 2005 and 2009 respectively. He is having 13 years experience in teaching UG and PG Engineering Students and 3 years Industry experience in Singapore. He worked in IBM, NEC and System Access MNCs at Singapore. Developed Banking Solutions as software engineer.

He is Microsoft Certified Engineer, Java Certified and did specialized course on Wireless Sensor Networks at IIT Kanpur. He published two books, "Core Java-Programming Simple" and "Introduction to Data Mining-A Practical Approach". His research interests are Data Mining, Wireless Sensor Networks and Sensor Web Services. Currently, he is doing DST funded project on Wireless Sensor Networks. He is having several Publications at National and International journals with good impact factor. He is a recipient of best research paper award, best teacher award and outstanding academic excellence award from DST, KL University and SRR Educational Society respectively.